SUMMARY

I am a final Year BSc Information Technology Student at the North West University. I am an enthusiastic IT student with a passion for technology and the advancements made in technology. I like solving problems. While completing my BSc IT degree, I've gained experience working solo and collaborating in groups with other students working on various projects.

I have also gained experience in the industry doing functional testing freelance work at uTest, where I also received "Academy Tester of the week". I have shown time management and teamwork skills by being a student assistant for 3 modules at the NWU.
